Director Dear Sir: On I resigned from the agency. At this time I was assured by the finance section that whatever was due me for traveling expenses and annual leave would be sent to me in a few weeks. This amount was a little over $ 1300. Since my resignation I have written several times inquiring about this but nothing has been heard from the agency. Considerable expense was entailed in finding a new job and moving. Also, since the agency did not feel responsible for paying my wife's travel expenses to the states, she is still waiting the three years is a very special and important season for my ramming and I would like my wife to be with me. This I cannot afford until the agency sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it can do is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - wtthin a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written letters but to no avail.	Director Dear Sir: On I resigned from the agency. At this time I was assured by the finance section that whatever was due me for traveling expenses and annual leave would be sent to me in a few weeks. This amount was a little over $ 1300. Since my resignation I have written several times inquiring about this but nothing has been heard from the agency. Considerable expense was entailed in finding a new job and moving. Also, since the agency did not feel responsible for paying my wife's travel expenses to the states, she is still waiting the expenses to the states, she is still waiting as a very special and important season for my ramming and I would like my wife to be with me. This I cannot afford until the agency sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it and o is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written	Approved For Research See 2003/06/26 : CIA-RE	P80R01731R233100140030-4
Dear Sir: On I resigned from the agency. At this time I was assured by the finance section that whatever was due me for traveling expenses and annual leave would be sent to me in a few weeks. This amount was a little over $1300. Since my resignation I have written several times inquiring about this but nothing has been heard from the agency. Considerable expense was entailed in finding a new job and moving. Also, since the agency did not feel responsible for paying my wife's travel expenses to the states, she is still waiting the christmas is a very special and important season for my ramming and I would like my wife to be with me. This I cannot afford until the agency sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it can do is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written	On I resigned from the agency. At this time I was assured by the finance section that whatever was due me for traveling expenses and annual leave would be sent to me in a few weeks. This amount was a little over $ 1300. Since my resignation I have written several times inquiring about this but nothing has been heard from the agency. Considerable expense was entailed in finding a new job and moving. Also, since the agency did not feel responsible for paying my wife's travel expenses to the states, she is still waiting the christmas is a very special and important season for my ramminy and I would like my wife to be with me. This I cannot afford until the agency sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it and o is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written letters but to no avail.		7 Dec. 1952
I was assured by the finance section that whatever was due me for traveling expenses and annual leave would be sent to me in a few weeks. This amount was a little over $1300. Since my resignation I have written several times inquiring about this but nothing has been heard from the agency. Considerable expense was entailed in finding a new job and moving. Also, since the agency did not feel responsible for paying my wife's travel expenses to the states, she is still waiting is a very special and important season for my ramminy and I would like my wife to be with me. This I cannot afford until the agency sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith the agency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it can do is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written	I was assured by the finance section that whatever was due me for traveling expenses and annual leave would be sent to me in a few weeks. This amount was a little over $ 1300. Since my resignation I have written several times inquiring about this but nothing has been heard from the agency. Considerable expense was entailed in finding a new job and moving. Also, since the agency did not feel responsible for paying my wife's travel expenses to the states, she is still waiting a very special and important season for my ramming and I would like my wife to be with me. This I cannot afford until the agency sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to theagency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it can do is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written letters but to no avail.
sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it can do is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written	sends me what is due me. Apparently the great interest I took in my work during the three years I waswith thea gency and the successful manner in which I fulfilled my responsible position is forgotten when I am no longer of use to the agency and request reasonable action on that to which I am entitled. As the agency disclaims any responsibility for my wife's travel expenses, the least it can do is to pay me what I have earned and am entitled to - within a reasonable time. Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written letters but to no avail.	I was assured by the finance section that for traveling expenses and annual leave a few weeks. This amount was a little or resignation I have written several times but nothing has been heard from the agen was entailed in finding a new job and moragency did not feel responsible for payiexpenses to the states, she is still waits a very special and important season for like my wife to be with me. This I cannot be season of the states of the states of the states of the states.	t whatever was due me would be sent to me in ver $ 1300. Since my inquiring about this cy. Considerable expense ving. Also, since the ng my wife's travel ting
Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written	Would you please have some one check on this and have appropriate action taken. I have made phone calls and written letters but to no avail.	my work during the three years I waswith successful manner in which I fulfilled my is forgotten when I am no longer of use to reasonable action on that to which I am a stravel expenses, the least it can do is to	great interest I took in thea gency and the responsible position theagency and request entitled. ibility for my wife's pay me what I have
	Very truly yours,	Would you please have some one check appropriate action taken. I have made pl	sonable time. c on this and have

Act /P

Inspector General UILDING ROOM NO. Administration	Inspector General FULLDING Administration Administration Administration Administration I		AL SLIP \smile
Inspector General UILDING Administration I EMARKS:	Inspector General FULLDING Administration Administration Administration Administration I		10 Dec 52
UILDING Administration EMARKS: ROOM NO. 1	Administration ROOM NO. Administration 1	Inspector General	(Date)
EMARKS:	EMARKS:	BUILDING Administration	_
		For your informatio	n.
M: ADD/A	DM: ADD/A	DM: ADD/A

STAT